PREFACE

PREFACE is included in this book not alone because it is customary, but because certain things should be explained. This book is issued, not as a work of art or literary merit, nor as a result of any overmastering desire to break into the book business, but as a record in which to preserve the salient points of the Sapp genealogy.

In the pursuit of knowledge concerning their individual ancestry the editors collected a vast amount of fact and became interested in the broader lines of the history of a family. For almost ten years this process of collection has been going on, some who contributed being still alive while others have passed to the Great Beyond. On account of these deaths among us some of the dates and facts we have are unreplaceable and we have felt it a duty devolving upon us to get it all into permanent form lest some material might be lost. Such a work as this, where the principal sources of information have been traditions and memories collected by correspondence, is bound to contain some errors, omissions and contradictions, but we have endeavored, as far as possible, to rectify and harmonize them. We offer what we have with only the thought in mind that we will thus preserve these facts until another shall come and build upon this foundation a completed structure.

We are including some extra blanks and ask that you shall supplement and continue the information in the book. Where we have made mistakes, correct us; where we have made omissions, supply the deficiency and where you can continue a line, do so on these extra sheets. These sheets will be carefully preserved and at some future date, perhaps, a fuller and more complete history can be gotten out, and the material you send in can be incorporated.

The time is coming in America when the blood of our people will be so mixed with all nationalities, that he who can look back to an ancestry reaching to the foundation of our government will have reason to be proud, and this book will be proof in future generations where otherwise there would be no word.

Thanks are due all contributors for what they have done, but especially to Mr. Francis Sapp, Danville, Ohio; Dr. J. A. Sapp, Salineville, Ohio, and Miss Berrice A. Sapp, Olympia, Washington, for the cheerful and long continued work which they did.

And so with this somewhat extended word we leave the work in your hands trusting that later the whole matter may be worked out with more completeness.

INTRODUCTION

No record has yet been found of the time the Sapp family came to this country, where they landed, or whence they came. Search has been made but nothing revealed. There has been no dearth of tradition and positive statements on these points however, different branches of the same line advocating widely divergent theories. An oft recurring statement is that the Sapps are of Scotch-Irish origin, another brings them from England, and others are equally positive that Holland is the soil from which they spring. It is, however, rather generally recognized that there is a great physical resemblance between the members of the different branches and doubtless more extended search, through the county records of all the states in which they appear, will confirm in time the ideas of the editors of this work that all are descended from a single ancestor who appeared in the early history of America.

However, while we have found nothing definite as to the country from which the Sapps came, a study of the names leads to a strong conclusion that they came from England. The names, without exception, are of English origin and do not show even a trace of the Dutch and but a very little of the Scotch-Irish. It may be that originally the family came from Holland to England during the religious persecutions and that a few generations in England sufficed to remove all the Dutch characteristics. Likewise it is barely possible that they may have been originally English and during the Dissenter troubles in England have moved to Scotland and Ireland and thence to America. Some who claim to have investigated the matter thoroughly seem to find satisfaction in one origin, others in another. We say, frankly, we do not know.

But whatever their origin the Sapps have been and are a people respected for their absolute honesty and uprightness. They are not well educated, as a rule, and not mentally brilliant. Very few of them have ever attained prominence in the councils of the state or nation, although there are some notable exceptions, but they are men and women who bear the responsibilities of good citizenship as nobly as the best.

They are, however, quite religious, although their creeds vary in the different lines. Certain lines are Catholic, others Baptist, still others Methodist, but very seldom do we find one who prides himself on irreligion or disbelief.

In the matter of politics reports indicate that they hang together better here than any where else. They may have come from different countries or they may belong to different churches but with a few exceptions, they are all Democrats.

The definite verifiable history of the Sapp family in its different branches begins about 1765 to 1775. From that time down the lines are definitely traceable and errors that appear are due to a failure of memory or a date entered wrongly. Previous to this time, however, all the connected history of the family is assumed. Facts on record such as wills, deeds, land grants, marriage licenses, etc., stand out alone and serve only to guide the searcher after truth in breaking new paths from one to another, and who shall say these paths are not correctly laid out? Given certain facts as premises, if we follow them logically who shall say our conclusion is wrong until he has facts that shall contradict it?

It is purely tradition as yet, that John Sapp came over from England with Lord Calvert in his second or third ship load of immigrants in 1650, but we have seen fit to assume it as a fact as it fits in well with what we know of the family. We must account for Sapps in different sections of the country as early at 1776 and we must account for two Sapps appearing on records as early as 1743. We stand willing to be corrected, but until some one can adduce proof against us or offer a more feasible theory, we are willing to accept this one we have assumed.

John Sapp then came to this country from England about 1650 and settled in Maryland. We hear of three sons of John—Frederick and William and John. Frederick, industrious, went to New York to engage in the trade of a cooper. William being more restless, went across the mountains and drifted down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to New Orleans, where he settled. Of the descendants of William we have no knowledge. John, third son of John, remained in eastern Maryland and from him is sprung most of the Sapps in this volume.

Frederick has a son, Charles, who went to North Carolina and from him are doubtless sprung most of the southern Sapps. His immediate family does not appear, however, and this line we shall drop until it reappears about 1800.

John Jr., youngest son of John, the immigrant, had several children, doubtless. From the records of Delaware we find Henry Sapp and John Sapp in that vicinity about 1733 and we assume a brother George to connect the Maryland lines with the original immigrant.

The remainder of this Introduction will be taken up with records of deeds, wills, etc., as collected from Delaware and Maryland. In most instances the subjects are unidentified with the lines we have and they must be considered as descendants of the lines we cannot trace.

The first record of the name of Sapp in America is that of Henry Sapp in the following deed:

In the first census of the United States taken in 1790 the following heads of families appear, together with record. Most of these we have not been able to locate but included them not only as matter of interest but in order that someone may be able in time to find the data which will connect up some of our lines with these different men.

Maryland, Baltimore Co.

DANIEL SAPP—1 male above 16 yrs; 6 male children under 16 and three females in family.

Baltimore Co.

FRANCIS SAPP—2 males above 16 yrs, 1 male under 16 years, 6 females in family.

Frederick Co.

LEONARD SAPP, 2 white males above 16 yrs. one female above 16 yrs.

North Carolina, Rowan County, Salisbury District.

NOWELL SAPP.

Stokes County.

JOHN SAPP

BENJAMIN SAPP

JESSIE SAPP

ROBERT SAPP

Pennsylvania, Bedford County

JOHN SAPP—six in family.

The Records of Allegheny County, Md., also show the name of Sapp in several instances and these can be located in line "A". The land records show the name as grantor or grantee of Jacob Sapp in 1792, Frederick, in 1800 and George Sapp in 1807. The marriage records of that county show license issued in 1796 to Daniel Sapp.

In the early day the Sapps were evidently very peaceably inclined or else there were very few of them. We have the record of only three in the Revolution. On the Muster roll of the Regular Maryland troops in service, Col. Wm. Smallwood, Capt. Patrick Sims, we find Robert Sapp, as private, enlisted, May 12, 1776, mentioned again, April 16, 1777, deserted, brought before court martial and committed to jail May 7, 1778. The second is Shadrack Sapp, a private drafted May 5, 1781, in the Kent County, Delaware recruits. A small taste of army life evidently was agreeable, for on August 27th, 1781, he enlisted for three years in Third Regiment Company 6.

Joseph Sapp, ancestor of line "B" was in the Revolution, honorably serving with the Delaware Blues, and we find that he drew an annual pension of $60 per year, having drawn it for six years prior to 1835.

Line "A"

Children:

- 2—Frederick.
- 3—William.
- 4—John.

(2)

FREDERICK, son of John Sapp, went from Maryland to New York, and engaged in the cooperage business and manufacturing ship supplies.

Children:

- 5—Charles.

(3)

WILLIAM, son of John Sapp, is reported to have gone down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans and from him probably sprang the Mississippi and Louisiana Sapps.

Children:

- 6—Henry.

CHARLES, son of Frederick Sapp (2) is reported to have gone to North Carolina, and from him are supposed to have descended the Sapp lines of Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee.

(6)

HENRY, son of John Sapp (4) is the first of whom we have official record. As early as 1733 he appears to have bought some land of one Joseph Booth. In 1739 and 1743 he had, from the Proprietary Government grants of land. His will, dated May 2, 1743, appears in the introductory chapter of this work together with copies of the deed and grant above referred to. He married Ann Moore, who died Dec. 12, 1761, and whose will is made note of in preceding chapter.

Children:

- 9—Henry Jr., married Sarah —.
- 10—James, married Rachel —.
- 11—Joanna, married — Bradley.
- 12—Ann, married — Thistlewood.
- 13—Edward.
- 14—Benjamin
- 15—John, married Elizabeth —.

- 21—John.
- 22—George.
- 23—Frederick.
- 24—Mary.

(9)

HENRY JR., son of Henry Sapp (6) had a wife, Sarah, and died Dec. 23, 1772. It is probable that Henry had a son, Ephriam, though it may have been that this boy belonged to the family of one of Henry's brothers.

Children:

- 25—Ephriam.

(16)

WILLIAM, son of John Sapp (7) is also an indefinite character, nothing being known of him save that we have his will dated 1759. This will appears in the preceding chapter.

Children:

- 26—William.

(17)

Isaac, son of John Sapp (7) has a will on record dated 1752. Nothing is known of any of the family.

(19)

JACOB, son of George Sapp (8) resided in New Jersey. He had a wife, Susan —, but nothing more is known of him. He died about 1829.

Children:

- 26a—John, b. May 2, 1800, d. June 2, 1831.
- 26b—Joseph, Jan. 19, 1819.

(20)

HENRY, son of George Sapp (8), is the probable ancestor of the Ravenna, Ohio, line.

Children:

- 27—Daniel.
- 28—John.
- 29—Henry.
- 30—Isaac.
- 31—Jacob.

(21)

JOHN, son of George Sapp (8) had a large family, as did all of his brothers. The recurrence of names through these lines is one strong argument in favor of the relationship we have established.

Children:

- 32—George.
- 33—John.
- 34—Frederick.
- 35—Edward.
- 36—Hartley.
- 37—Mary.
- 38—Patience.

- 40—Margaret.

(22)

GEORGE, son of George Sapp (8) lived in Cumberland, Alleghany Co., Maryland, from the time of his youth until his children had married and had families. He married, while a young man, Christina Texter. In 1809 George went with his children to Ohio and settled near Danville, Knox Co. He died in 1810 and his wife soon after and both were buried on his farm near Danville.

Children:

- 41—John.
- 42—Elizabeth.
- 43—Joseph.

44—Catherine.

45—Margaret.

46—Daniel.

47—George.

48—Mary.

49—William.

(23)

FREDERICK, son of George Sapp (8) moved from Maryland to Kentucky, where most of his family remained. His three eldest sons, however, removed to Ohio and settled near their cousins, children of George (22). Living in the same vicinity as two cousins of the same name, George, son of Frederick, was called "Black Headed George" to distinguish him.

Children:

- 50—Frederick.

(25)

EPHRIAM, grandson of Henry Sapp (6) has a will dated April, 1807, giving Elijah, his son, as administrator.

Children:

- 59—Elijah.
- 60—Levi.

A daughter who married Mr. Anderson.

(26)

WILLIAM, son of William Sapp (16) has a will dated 1776 in Delaware. From this William, are probably descended many of the Delaware Sapps now living in that locality.

(26-a.)

JOHN, son of Jacob Sapp (19) and Susan —, leaves no record save an inscription on a stone in St. Mary's churchyard, Burlington, N. J., giving death, June 2, 1831, aged 31 years and 1 month.

(26-b)

JOSEPH, son of Jacob Sapp (19) and Susan —, is arbitrarily so placed but he is known to have lived in New Jersey and to have been a son of Jacob, and hence he was placed here. He was born January 19, 1819. He had five children of whom we know but one.

Children:

61—James K.

Miscellaneous

There have been many Sapps whose names we have run across in various places, either in government service or in private life all of which we have endeavored to locate by correspondence, direct or indirect, but whom we have failed of locating, either through their carelessness in replying or some change of address. Others we have some little information about but they have not known anything concerning their ancestry. In this chapter we will append a list of these giving what little we know about them. Some of the names which follow will be given in the body of this work, but through some inadvertance or oversight, they have not been identified before we went to press. In any event, the repetition will do no harm. We shall include all of those who have been in the government service, however, whether they have appeared in the book before or not. We also find Dr. J. M. Sapp at Clawson, Tex. Dr. Sapp wrote us one letter and said he could tell us everything we wanted to know about the southern Sapps and since that time we have been unable to get word from him in any way, shape or form. He is probably deceased.

From R. G. Dunn & Co., of 1891, we find a Eugene Sapp at Sciota, Ill. He may be included in the body of this work but I do not locate him.

A long newspaper clipping speaks of the heroism of I. C. Sapp of Westerville, Ohio, in which he saved the life of Dr. Whitney, representative from Franklin County. Mr. Sapp was awarded a medal and $2,500 by the Carnegie commission for his bravery. We tried to get in touch with Mr. Sapp but have been unable to get any replies to our letters.

Newspaper clippings speak of a miner, John Sapp, employed near Rawlins, Wyo., but we know nothing further of him.

One of the best known of the unconnected Sapps was ex-mayor Daniel Sapp of Pekin, Ill. He was born May 18, 1842 and died July 21, 1909. Mr. Sapp was born in Fleming County, Ky., but knew absolutely nothing as to his ancestry. His parents died when he was a small child. Mr. Sapp started life farming and throughout the major part of his life was very much interested in horse breeding, being known all over Illinois and Kentucky to horsemen. He was a Democrat in politics and served in various county offices for many years and was elected twice mayor of Pekin. He was a member of the Commandry and Shrine of Peoria and was very active in Masonic work.
